Documentary series showcases Asheville breweries and makers

Asheville, NC - May 12th, 2021. Riverbend Malt House is featured as one of the “makers” in the documentary series Crafted now available on Amazon Prime. In addition to Riverbend, Season 2 of the successful Amazon series covers local breweries Bhramari Brewing, DSSOLVR, Green Man Brewing, and Zillicoah Brewing, as well as White Labs Yeast Laboratory and other Asheville artisans.

Four distinctive beers featuring unique malts from Riverbend and yeasts from White Labs were developed and brewed. Each episode captures the brew day and provides a behind the scenes look into each ingredient and brewery. These beers are available for purchase locally and online.

“Asheville is tremendously supportive of local businesses and these beers speak directly to that ethos,” said Brent Manning, Co-Founder of Riverbend Malt House, “Each beer features North Carolina grown grain alongside another local creation such as marshmallows or honey.”

The first season of Crafted captured a similar project in Florida and the creative team at Crafted felt that Asheville provided the perfect opportunity to expand the series. "Working with the breweries and makers around Asheville was really exciting for us," says Craig Chapman, the Producer and Creator of Crafted, "They have created a special community that really celebrates what craft beer can be."

Crafted Season 2 is now available to stream on Amazon Prime.
